Walter Raleigh (c.1552 - 1618)

Raleigh was an adventurer, courtier to Elizabeth I, navigator, author and poet.

Walter Raleigh (also spelled Ralegh) was born into a well-connected gentry family at Hayes Barton in Devon in around 1552. He attended Oxford University for a time, fought with the Huguenots in France and later studied law in London.

In 1578, Raleigh sailed to America with explorer Sir Humphrey Gilbert, his half brother. This expedition may have stimulated his plan to found a colony there. In 1585, he sponsored the first English colony in America on Roanoke Island (now North Carolina). The colony failed and another attempt at colonisation also failed in 1587. Raleigh has been credited with bringing potatoes and tobacco back to Britain, although both of these were already known via the Spanish. Raleigh did help to make smoking popular at court.

Raleigh first came to the attention of Elizabeth I in 1580, when he went to Ireland to help suppress an uprising in Munster. He soon became a favourite of the queen, and was knighted and appointed captain of the Queen's Guard (1587). He became a member of parliament in 1584 and received extensive estates in Ireland.

In 1592, the queen discovered Raleigh's secret marriage to one of her maids of honour, Elizabeth Throckmorton. This discovery threw Elizabeth into a jealous rage and Raleigh and his wife were imprisoned in the Tower. On his release, in an attempt to find favour with the queen, he set off on an unsuccessful expedition to find El Dorado, the fabled 'Golden Land', rumoured to be situated somewhere beyond the mouth of the Orinoco river in Guiana (now Venezuela).

Elizabeth's successor, James I of England and VI of Scotland, disliked Raleigh, and in 1603 he was accused of plotting against the king and sentenced to death. This was reduced to life imprisonment and Raleigh spent the next 12 years in the Tower of London, where he wrote the first volume of his 'History of the World' (1614).

In 1616, Raleigh was released to lead a second expedition to search for El Dorado. The expedition was a failure, and Raleigh also defied the king's instructions by attacking the Spanish. On his return to England, the death sentence was reinstated and Raleigh's execution took place on 29 October 1618.

Cutting class? It's gonna cost you, kiddo

The best in parenting news and blogs from around the Web.

By Dana Macario

Paragraph 1	Cutting class? It'll cost you. Five minutes late? That'll be a five-dollar bill. Schools across the country are increasingly turning to monetary fines as a way to punish students (and often their parents) for their misdeeds. Unexcused absences, tardiness and cursing in class are all infractions that have resulted in fiscal punishments for students. One Texas student racked up more than $600 worth of punishments for swearing in class, while a city in California adopted a policy that would allow schools to charge kids up to $500 for ditching school.
Paragraph 2	Police officers are the men in blue whom little boys usually idolize and want to emulate. Too bad the feeling's not always mutual. A school district police force in California is being criticized because the officer's association produced T-shirts which read "U Raise 'em, We Cage 'em" and featured a picture of a frightened-looking child behind bars. Many are understandably concerned about the impact on student-cop relationship as a result of the shirts. Officer Friendly has left the building, kiddos.
Paragraph 3	Are Southern kids experiencing a decline in manners? Some are saying that the region, well-known for politeness and social niceties, is slipping into rudeness. There are those who say that good manners are a crucial part of a Southerner's identity and they blame today's parents for failing to instill those manners in the next generation. A longtime teacher in Alabama says that the decline in home-cooked meals is a large part of the problem, as "You don't need to know all your social graces to sit down at McDonald's and eat a burger and fries." Another etiquette teacher sees the problem stemming from two-parent working households, because busy, stressed-out parents don't hold their children accountable for their behavior. Of course, there are also some who say that criticizing busy parents for taking their kids to fast food restaurants now again, isn't demonstrating the best of manners, either.
Paragraph 4	Kids smoked pot before marijuana was legalized and they smoked it after it was legalized. No more (and, probably, no less). A study in Rhode Island showed that teens there didn't use pot any more after the state legalized medical marijuana than they had beforehand. Researchers had been assessing whether or not middle and high school students used the drug more after it was legalized. They didn't.

How Wind Turbines Work

Wind is a form of solar energy. Winds are caused by the uneven 0 of the atmosphere by the sun, the irregularities of the earth's surface, and rotation of the earth. Wind flow patterns are modified by the earth's terrain, bodies of water, and vegetation. Humans use this wind flow, or motion energy, for many 16: sailing, flying a kite, and even generating 17.

The terms wind energy or wind power describe the process by which the wind is used to generate mechanical power or electricity. Wind 18 convert the kinetic energy in the wind into mechanical power. This mechanical power can be used for specific tasks (such as grinding grain or pumping 19) or a generator can convert this mechanical power into electricity.

So how do wind turbines make electricity? Simply stated, a wind turbine works oppositely to a 20. Instead of using electricity to make wind, wind turbines use wind to make electricity. The wind turns the blades, which spin a shaft, which connects to a generator and makes electricity.

Wind turbines range in size from 100 kilowatts to as large as several megawatts. Larger turbines are grouped together into wind farms, which provide bulk power to the electrical 21.

Single small turbines, below 100 kilowatts, are used for homes, telecommunications dishes, or water pumping. Small turbines are sometimes used in 22 with diesel generators, batteries, and photovoltaic systems. These systems are called hybrid wind systems and are typically used in remote, off-grid 23, where a connection to the utility grid is not available.

Museum discovers earliest copy of 'Mona Lisa'

By Bryony Jones, CNN, February 1, 2012

(CNN) - The earliest known copy of Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa" - thought to have been painted at the same time as the original masterpiece - has been discovered at the Prado Museum in Madrid, Spain.

The work offers art-lovers a tantalizing hint of what the model for the world's most famous painting really looked like.

Conservators found the portrait hidden beneath layers of black overpainting during restoration work on a picture initially thought to have been a later replica of the "Mona Lisa."

The restored version shows the same woman that Leonardo depicted, against a landscape similar to that shown in the background of the original, which now hangs in the Louvre in Paris.

And while the features of Leonardo's subject have been dulled by centuries of dirt and layers of cracked varnish - which are unlikely ever to be removed - in the recently-rediscovered copy, she appears fresher faced and younger than her better-known "twin."

News of the find was revealed at a symposium at London's National Gallery, linked to its blockbuster "Leonardo da Vinci: Painter at the Court of Milan" exhibition, and reported in the Art Newspaper.

"This sensational find will transform our understanding of the world's most famous picture," the Art Newspaper reported, adding that the underdrawing found on the Madrid version "suggests that the original and the copy were begun at the same time and painted next to each other, as the work evolved."

Miguel Falomir, curator of Italian painting at the Prado, told a press conference at the museum expert analysis suggested a strong link between Leonardo and the artist who painted the copy.

"The painting was done in the painter's own workshop," he was quoted by AFP as saying.

"It is absolutely consistent with Leonardo's work," he said, but he added: "It is a work in which Leonardo himself did not intervene."

The painting is expected to be unveiled to the public at the Prado Museum in February.

It will then go on display at the Louvre in March, as part of the "Leonardo's Final Masterpiece" exhibition, which focuses on his work, "The Virgin and Child with St. Anne."

Obkrožite črko pred izjavami, ki so pravilni odgovori na vprašanja o besedilu Museum discovers earliest copy of 'Mona Lisa'. Pri vsakem vprašanju je možen le en odgovor.

Example:

0. When was the newly found copy of the Mona Lisa painted?

- A At about the same time as da Vinci's painting.
- B Many centuries after the original painting.
- C Quite recently; sometime in the year 2012.
- D After the discovery at the Prado Museum.

24. Where was the newly discovered copy found?

- A Beneath a pile of old paintings.
- B Behind a can of paint in a museum.
- C Beneath a very dark coat of paint.
- D Behind the frame of the Mona Lisa.

25. How does the original painting differ from the copy?

- A It is much darker and more damaged.
- B It depicts some other woman.
- C It has no landscape in the background.
- D It has no special varnish on it.

26. Where was the copy first publicly discussed?

- A At the Prado Museum in Madrid.
- B At the Louvre Museum in Paris.
- C At the Court Exhibition in Milan.
- D At the National Gallery in London.

27. What do art experts think about the discovery?

- A It will change how we see the original.
- B It will transform the original Mona Lisa.
- C It will change our understanding of art.
- D It will replace the original Mona Lisa.

28. What does Miguel Falomir claim?

- A The copy was painted in an unknown workshop.
- B The copy was painted by the great da Vinci himself.
- C The copy has absolutely nothing to do with da Vinci.
- D The copy was obviously painted in da Vinci's style.

29. Did da Vinci paint the copy of the Mona Lisa?

- A Yes.
- B No.
- C Perhaps.
- D Partly.

30. What is the central piece of the "Leonardo's Final Masterpiece" exhibition?

- A The last known replica of the Mona Lisa.
- B The earliest known copy of the Mona Lisa.
- C Da Vinci's original "Mona Lisa" painting.
- D Da Vinci's "The Virgin and Child with St. Anne."
